

SPECTRUM 1972

Presented to the L.T.C. Library
May 12, 1972.

Lynda Huber
Editor

The Honourable Robert Welch
Former Minister of Education

On behalf of the Government of Ontario, I would like to welcome each of you to the ranks of your chosen profession-- a profession that is second to none in its significance for the well-being of our society.

Yearbooks are essentially meant to be read in the future, and the information contained in them will be tempered by those changes in conditions and attitudes that have taken place in the intervening years. In the same way, the knowledge that you have gained during your period of formal professional training will adapt in the future to meet those situations in which your careers will place you.

As a process of lifelong learning, education implies a continuing experience of growth for teachers and students alike and the development of mutual respect and understanding. As you bring to bear those individual talents each of you possesses, and recognize the potential strengths in the students with whom you will come into contact, you have an opportunity to make a significant contribution to the development of our society.

Let me therefore congratulate you on your achievements at this stage in your lives, and offer my best wishes for your continued success in the future.

Robert Welch,
Provincial Secretary for Social Development

A SCHOOL IS JUST A BUILDING...

PEOPLE MAKE THE DIFFERENCE

Mr. Donald F. Harris

Congratulations upon becoming a teacher. You have learned that teaching is a demanding profession which will require all of your ability and courage. The results you achieve seldom will be dramatic or sudden and yet I can promise you that your continuing work with children will bring to you satisfactions rarely experienced in other professions.

Your task is particularly difficult because the onus of the decision making is being given to teachers. Knowing that all of your professional decisions will affect the lives of children places a heavy responsibility upon you. London Teachers' College has done its best to prepare you. Best wishes for a successful career in Teaching.

D.F.H.

Mr. J. Glen Elford

"At the rate at which knowledge is growing, by the time the child born today graduates from college, the amount of knowledge in the world will be four times as great. By the time that same child is 50 years of age, it will be 32 times as great and 97% of everything known in the world at that time will have been learned since he was born."

-Dr. Robert Hilliard, Federal Communications Commission, U.S.A.

If this trend continues, then it seems to me that education must serve two functions in our society. First, it must be a social process by which we transmit to the emergent generation those traditional aspects of our culture that are considered fundamental and vital for its stability and survival. Second, it must depart from traditional forms-- to train leaders for advancement of the group, for the development of new ideas, and for readjustment to changing environment. The blending of these two impulses--tradition and change-- will determine the varying forms of education and the society it serves. No doubt the proportions of these two elements will be modified from time to time, but I do not think that either can be ignored without ruining the product. As colleagues in the business of educating future generations, I hope that you will be successful in measuring and mixing these components with care and precision.

Education will not produce a rich society--but only a rich society can afford the luxury of education.

J.G.E.

STUDENT PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Nigel A. Buist

Our whole lives are spent evaluating; now comes the opportunity to appraise 1971-1972, "The Year of the Teachers' College".

I know that I am one, of many, who have enjoyed this year. The interchange of ideas was often stimulating and of course, friendships are invaluable. We can make this year much more valuable than we might ever believe possible; as we venture back into the real world, let us try to improve the lot of future L.T.C. students! By closely investigating and actually applying some of the methods and concepts that have been 'bantered about' this year, we will make their experience a more satisfying one. Just think--time will not be wasted through the frustration of being taught one thing here and seeing another applied there. Of course, the real benefactors of our efforts will be our students.

Here then, is my challenge to each of you: Make '71-'72 an important year; take L.T.C. into the schools. Teach, the way you would want to be taught. To all those who helped make this year interesting and active: Thank you. To all of you, go with my best wishes for every success and happiness, in the profession and in your private lives.

Nigel A. Buist

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

EXECUTIVE BOARD

Jim Kelly, John Myles, Mary Lynn Holdershaw

EDITOR

Lynda Huber

The executive staff and myself hope that you enjoy your yearbook. This year the presentation is almost wholly pictorial because we felt that "a picture is worth a thousand words", and that there were many things worth talking about!

We have attempted to cover the activities of both the Primary and Intermediate sections equally, but this proved to be quite tricky when it came to practice teaching sessions.

As editor of the yearbook, I would like to thank all those who contributed time to easing the load of work in any way. May I also express my praise and sincere gratitude to the yearbook executive board, without whom there would have been no yearbook. They spent many long hours working overtime without pay! A big "thank-you" is also extended to each of our three staff advisors, Mr. Thompson, Mr. Emerson, and Mr. Smith, who provided us with invaluable advice and guidance.

To the graduates in the class of 1971-'72, I wish all of you the best, and good luck for the years ahead.

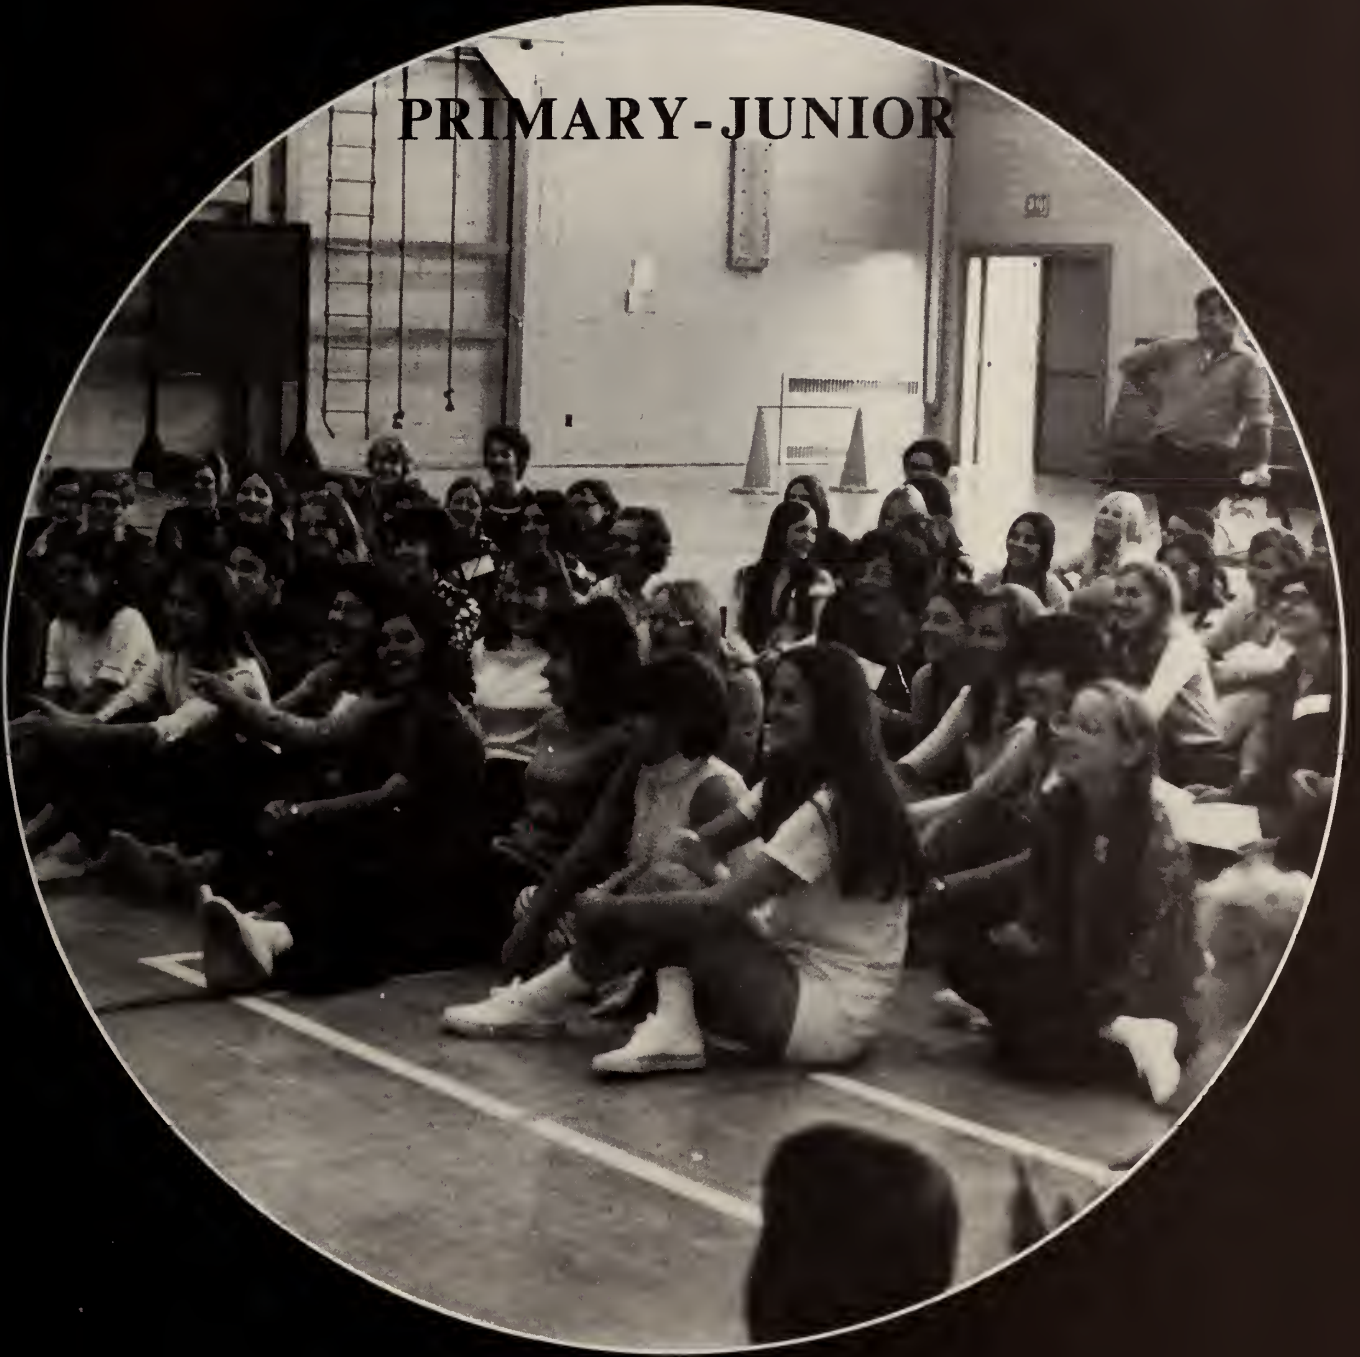

We have all learned what a rewarding experience teaching can be, and may we learn to stay alive in the classroom, and not to stagnate in our ways.

And remember, we're the best class yet!

FEDERATION OF WOMEN TEACHERS' ASSOCIATIONS OF ONTARIO

Welcome to the teaching profession. On behalf of the 35,000 members of the F.W.T.A.O. employed in the elementary schools of Ontario, I am pleased to extend this greeting.

My sincere hope is that you will be successful in your endeavours and studies this year and that you will obtain a position enabling you to use to advantage your training, education and individual qualities and resources. At that time, do remember your Federation; attend your local meetings, and participate actively. You are the women who will perpetuate, stimulate, and extend our aims and purposes. Through and with you may we all proceed forward through this decade and those following with a high spirit and great activity.

All the best to you.

WELCOME TO THE TEACHING PROFESSION!

I am Ross Andrew, President of the Ontario Public School Men Teachers' Federation, an organization of 13,500 men who teach in the public elementary schools of this province, and one of the groups which make up the 105,000 member Ontario Teachers' Federation. We are happy to have you join us, and we wish you success in your professional endeavours. There is quite a shock in that "moment of truth" when you first realize that you hold the prime responsibility for the development of the group of children whom you encounter daily. In that moment, and in many other moments in your career you will feel the need for the support of your professional organization. It may be as close as another staff member. It is never farther than your telephone!

If you need your organization, so your organization needs you. It needs your best effort as a teacher, for your performance reflects on all practitioners in teaching! In addition, this organization, like others of its kind, depends to a large extent on volunteers. In your school, in your district, and at the provincial level there are opportunities for you to pursue your interests. Federation exists to serve its members. You are Federation! Would you care to help yourself?

239 ideas to help children communicate

The Moyer Language Programme is planned to help children from early kindergarten to grade four to use language effectively. The programme includes aids to help children associate . . . aids to help them think logically . . . aids to help them express themselves more candidly and clearly. Included are: reading tapes, drama kits, flannel board sets, phonic rummy games, magic cards, picture-word dictionaries, word bingo games, as well as boxes and boxes and boxes of other materials. In fact, there are more than 239 different aids to help you make language learning an effective, more fascinating adventure for children. We'd like to tell you more about them. THE MAIN THING

So you're going to be a teacher!
And you think you've got the stuff
To dazzle them with learning
That flows right off the cuff!
Well just remember this one thing
And then I think you'll make it
When it comes to LOVING children
You really just can't fake it!

WHAT A TEACHER NEEDS

The education of a college president,
The executive ability of a financier,
The humility of a ceacon,
The adaptability of a chameleon,
The hope of an optimist,
The courage of a hero,
The wisdom of a serpent,
The gentleness of a dove,
The patience of Job,
The grace of God, and
The persistence of the Devil.
